USPA NEWS - Morocco is ready to receive the COP 22 to be held in Marrakech from 7 to 17 November 2016. His Majesty the King of Morocco, Mohammed VI, has attended the opening of the COP21, which was held in Paris from November 30 to December 12, alongside 149 other heads of state from around the world.

Morocco is ready to receive the COP 22 to be held in Marrakech from 7 to 17 November 2016. His Majesty the King of Morocco, Mohammed VI, has attended the opening of the COP21, which was held in Paris from November 30 to December 12, alongside 149 other heads of state from around the world. His Majesty delivered a major speech on this occasion, both strong and committed his message to the international community as to empowering the survival of the planet for future generations.-----

Here is the Part I of speech of HM King of Morocco, Mohammed VI on November 30th, opening session of COP21 in Paris, Le Bourget. HM King Mohammed VI also emphasised affirmative actions and dedicated to the environment such as the Green Morocco Plan, the Green Investment Plan, the prohibition of GMOs and the environmental charter. These efforts were hailed by the international community since the 1990s.-----

"The call of Tangier", during the visit of President Francois Hollande on 20 September was an opportunity to confirm the France-Morocco bilateral collaborative manner in the processes of COP21 and COP22 in Paris to Marrakech.

Your Excellencies, Ladies and Gentlemen, Since the world became aware, in 1992, of the urgent need to address climate change, the Kingdom of Morocco has resolutely sought to ensure that its proactive policy on sustainable development and environmental protection is in line with the international community's global effort. To this end, it has introduced a series of constitutional, legislative, institutional and regulatory reforms. The Environment Charter, the Green Morocco Plan, the Green Investment Plan, the ban on GMOs and the new law on plastic waste clearly reflect our commitment and our consistent action. More recently, and in keeping with the same approach which favours long-term objectives, the Kingdom of Morocco has become one of the main actors in the energy transition, in the world and especially on the African continent." His Majesty the King of Morocco, Mohammed VI, said as addressing the UN parties audience at COP21 opening session..

"More recently, and in keeping with the same approach which favours long-term objectives, the Kingdom of Morocco has become one of the main actors in the energy transition, in the world and especially on the African continent. Therefore, the objective of securing 42% of the country's energy mix from renewable sources by 2020 has recently been increased to 52% by 2030. Morocco's ambitious, substantial "Intended, Nationally Determined Contribution" under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change confirms the Kingdom's avant-garde approach. Building on this irreversible commitment, Morocco is bidding to host the COP22 in Marrakech in 2016. That is why, on 20 September, together with His Excellency President Francois Hollande, I made the "Tangier Call" reflecting our commitment to work hand in hand for the success of these events that are crucial to our destiny. It is important to ensure that one stage leads to the next. The road ahead will be long as habits will have to be changed, priorities set, new technology invented and regular assessment and checks accepted." His Majesty the King of Morocco, Mohammed VI, said as addressing the UN parties audience at COP21 opening session.-----
