THE FOREIGN MINISTRY ORGANISED THE 6TH EDITION OF OPEN-DAY OF JOBS IN DIPLOMACY

4500 VISITORS IN 2015 SAYS ROMAIN NADAL

Paris, Washington DC, 12.02.2016, 07:48 Time

USPA NEWS - "This is the sixth (6th) Once the Ministry of Foreign Affairs organized the Job Day. Last year we received 4,500 visitors this occasion in the premises of our ministry here at the Convention Street. And this year, the morning we received 2,500 people" Stated Romain Nadal Spokesman of the Diplomacy.

Romain Nadal, spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, attends the event actively participating to this special day to inform young candidates or interested in the the jobs of diplomacy. He did the exercise, a usual press point as close to reality.

Christian Masset, General Secretary of Foreign Affairs Minister is also present, and quietly observes the progress of the good working process of the "open-day for jobs "-----

ROMAIN NADAL INTRODUCES AND EXPLAINS THE FUNCTION OF SPOKESMAN OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTRY-----

"The spokesman's job is not to organize the Ministry, his role is to speaking of authority and exchanges. This is the political authority that takes directions and sometimes arbitration by the cell of the Elysee or otherwise can prepare for arbitration. This is a press function based on the strategy of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Sometimes we call our embassies abroad for analysis or insights to be closer to reality.

Yesterday, for example, at the press point, we had to foresee the agenda of the Foreign Minister with a dominant of the COP21, because we still are still leading the presidency of the COP21 and this will last until November when we move the baton to Morocco for the COP22. All measurements and climate issues will be supported next week at MEDEF, for implementation of aspects has both material and financial conditions that obtained in the agreement of the COP21, to fight against the effects of gas greenhouse," says Romain Nadal-----

We have also set up a system of the direct means of communication with the public, such as chat via FaceBook, with officials and our HR Director to respond to students wishing either become official or inyerested by becoming a contract agent later." explains Romain Nadal. Young visitors interested in the sector of diplomacy listen with great interest, Romain Nadal, spokesman of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and some even dare asking him questions.

Romain Nadal had the elegance of playing the game and simulating a genuine press point, as if he were facing a usual audience of journalists and correspondents of the Entire world, at the regular weekly press point. This exercise has been so well received by students and other young public, that some also lend themselves to the exercise by asking actual questions about the recent news, to the spokesman.-----

QUESTION ABOUT IRAN : How is now taking place as the renewal of relations between France and Iran, and what is the French position?-----

ANSWER OF ROMAIN NADAL : Yes, the relations with Iran have been rebooted following a visit of President Rohani and his Ministry of Foreign Affairs M Javad Zarif, France, and the rapprochement of our countries is not only based on economic aspect but also diplomatic, including on the subject of the COP21, particularly on reduction of greenhouse gas. Not to mention, the consensus process is over the door since the signing of the agreement on Iranian nuclear, signed on 14 July 2015. France has also played a key role in this process before reaching an agreement.

QUESTION ABOUT SYRIA : What's France position with Syria, given the progression of Bashar Al Assad in Aleppo right now?-----

ANSWER OF ROMAIN NADAL : It is true that the analysis of France that had been made in anticipation of this dramatic situation if Bashar Assad is still in power. The Syrian people have become hostages of terrorism and we will want this people, not to be victims of this situation anymore. We recalled the position of France on Sunday and it is true that we have with Iran, a divergence about Syria. The French President of the Republic has welcomed the new negotiations in Geneva, and the appreciation of the moderate coalition arguing for 5 years, with a review of the situation in Syria. As such, France recalled its position in the Security Council.-----

But this fact has been lasting for 5 years, causing a bloodbath, and which provides the population living under the terror and violence, and estimated 260,000 deaths and millions of displaced refugees who go to Turkey, Jordan, and Lebanon. Laurent Fabius also explained that France has provided financial assistance to the tune of 1 billion euros, at the London conference. This tragic remarks that joined alas analysis that we had sadly anticipated, as a warning since a long time.

QUESTION ABOUT COP21 : What are the impacts on the image of France abroad and the consequences after the success of the historic agreement of the COP21?-----

ANSWER ROMAIN NADALI: The historic agreement was signed in the end of COP21, is based on the UN and the French diplomacy. There is no sign of arrogance here, about this great success, but this is due mainly to the Secretariat of the Framework Convention. There were all the same leadership of President Hollande and the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Laurent Fabius. The Minister had made more than a hundred trips in the world to prepare properly for the COP21.

Moreover next Friday will be a meeting with MEDEF for the continuity of the COP21. And next Saturday 13 February, Laurent Fabius will receive a prize in Munich alongside Christiana Figueres, UNFCCC Secretary General, for the contribution of the agreement set at high standard levels of the COP21 in Bourget, Paris.

I recently, went elsewhere as part of the COP21, to Morocco for the inauguration of the Solar platform "Nour" in Ouarzazate. France participated in the launch of the largest platform in the world, up to 150 million euros and its implementation. The King of Morocco, Mohammed VI, has attended this innovative opening to the world of new renewable energy." adds Romain Nadal, about the COP21.-----

On another hand, we also talked about the female mutilation knowing that 3 million girls are mutilated. France and the Netherlands have taken a resolution to fight against FGM with a slogan "Zero Tolerance" face 125 Million mutilated women in the world. We shall, by the way, keep this title for calling an International Day under "Zero Tolerance"[2], soon, explains Romain Nadal.

TO SUM UP ROMAIN NADAL EXPLAINS THE ROLE AND IMPORTANCE OF THE PRESS POINT OF SPOKESMAN AT THE MINISTRY?-----

We are the only ministry to have a spokesperson and also a daily press briefing to be reactive facing the fresh news, moving. Our worldwide agents and equips are 160 ambassadors, in the world.-----

The press conference of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs issues the official information obtained after the diplomatic corps flowing informations around the world and announce the agenda of the Minister of Foreign Affairs Laurent Fabius and Secretaries of States under the supervision of the Quai d'Orsay: "Every week on Friday we hold a press conference before journalists French and foreign correspondents, (There are around 2000 based in France coming from all over the world), releasing the news on TV, radio, web and print press. The ministry launched an initiative since January to bring the diplomatic corps of the Palestinian side and Israel closer. The same for other issues such as Zika virus. We must bring more concrete initiatives to address concerns over the epidemic and information on the affected areas. An exchange is possible by electronic means offering journalists the opportunity to ask questions on sensitive topics such as the evolution of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, or other more or less current topics."
